

Are You Singing Your Song?

Are You Singing Your Song? contains the words of inspiration from Originals who follow their dreams. A collection of more than 600 quotations from people who have discovered their passion and are realizing their dreams. This includes not only celebrities from the worlds of music, writing, art, sports, and music, but Originals such as bubbleologists, architects, a hot dog vendor, NYC bicycle messenger, shoe salesman, and many others. Are you a lawyer because its what your parents expected of you? Would you rather play the cello or ukulele or roam the art museums of Europe? Are you a doctor who followed the directions of a teacher who now confines your fun to occasional roles in community theater? Were you guided into a secretarial job as backup, in case your dream didnt open up? You may find soul sisters and brothers here who recovered their earlier hopes. Arranged in alphabetic order, you can look for your favorite Originals, whether rock stars or dancers, or movie actors. Originals come in all sizes, shapes, and ages. Some of the quotes come from Originals who have passed; some are just beginning their dreams and many more have been living their passions for years. If you have not yet discovered what song you came to sing, you may find yourself uncovering it here. Simply answer the question: are you doing what you craved to do when you were a kid or are you following a plan designed by a parent or teacher or other outside influence? Read Are You Singing Your Song? a book about fascinating people who found their inner kid and followed the yearnings carried over since childhood. Perhaps your message will be included in ensuing books.
