

The Faith of the Presidents: Our National Leaders at Prayer

Trace The Legacy Of Prayer By Our Presidents When faced with the burden of leading the nation, the presidents of the United States have consistently called upon God. This unique, informative book by award-winning painter and author Ron DiCianni features their inspiring prayers, scriptures, and historical background concerning why faith was important during each term of office. The Faith of the Presidents looks at the life, legacy, and faith of every president from George Washington to George W. Bush. Discover the truth about the faith of Americas founding leaders. The men who have guided the destiny of the United States have found the strength for their tasks by going to their knees. PRESIDENT LYNDON BAINES JOHNSON You will discover interesting presidential facts, including: * George Washington serving as an elder in his church for almost twenty years * Thomas Jeffersons real intent for the wall of separation between church and state * Abraham Lincolns common practice of seeking divine counsel on his knees * James Garfields stint as an itinerant preacher * Woodrow Wilsons declaration that America was born a Christian nation * Jimmy Carter having taught more than seventeen hundred Bible lessons * George W. Bushs public proclamations of his dependence on God An ideal resource for individuals and families who want to trace the Christian roots of the United States, this book will motivate you to pray for the leadership of this nation, which Gods Word commands us to do.
