

Recipes from the Galley of a Mega Yacht: 1-10

Since I began publishing some of my recipes I have moved around in the yachting world. I now head the galley team on a 120m mega yacht, she has a crew of over 50 and can handle parties for hundreds of guests. We travel worldwide, using provisioners in every corner of the globe, and I have amassed a practical knowledge of a wide range of cuisines. There are under 20 yachts of this size in existence and hopefully this series of stories and recipes will share with the reader some insight into the hush-hush world of private yachting. In each publication I will compose 10 recipes, they will simply be recipes I have been using at that time, maybe for geographical reasons or because of the particular preferences of the guests and crew. Because of my experience these recipes are very practical, if you are entertaining large groups of friends or just cooking for one, I am sure there will be skills and techniques here which will save you time, stress and money.
