

The Gifted Ones: The Dream

Fire rages in their dream. Whirlwinds threaten their bond. Evil fuels their anger. Nathan, orphaned by murderers, steals his grandmothers car to flee his home in Paradise leaving behind all that remains of his life, his family, his home because of the dream. Rebecca, the talented, autistic, speechless one, knows more than her estranged father believes, which sets her on the run and into unfamiliar situations because of the dream. Cai, the angry young woman orphaned after a plane crash, seeks reasons, revenge, restitution from her nightmarish tormentor because of the dream. Thad the frightened, quiet, suspicious one fears his father, and the one in the dream who taunts him, beckons him, desires him. The fairytale prophesied them. The dream binds them. Cheater and Jaz need them. But they live in a world created by him, a world hes worked hard to build, and he will let nothing, no one, undo the foundation of his future. Years of planning his worldwide takeover, researching predictions of the past, playing lives like a fine game of chess are at stake. He awaits the arrival of the twelve, and four of them are on their way, seeking union with those in the dark. This book, as well as its prequel, provides royalty donations to the Young Scholars Contest sponsored by the author.
